

A Security Sector Governance approach to Women, Peace and Security: Holding the security sector to account on gender equality

Tuesday 15 June 2021, 9:00-10:30 EDT / 15:00-16:30 CEST

The implementation of the Women, Peace and Security Agenda is closely linked to transformative reforms in the security sector, based on key principles of good governance to guide the provision and management of security. In this regard democratic civilian control is key to ensure that security sector institutions meet the needs of the entire population, to hold it accountable on gender equality and promote representative and inclusive institutions. Join us for an interactive discussion with experts and practitioners.

Speakers:

- Dr Susan Atkins, former Service Complaint Commissioner for the Armed Forces, UK
- Dr Kateryna Levchenko, Government Commissioner for Gender Policy, Ukraine
- Carmen Rosa de Leon, Executive Director, Iepades, Guatemala
- Agata Walczak, Manager Global Project on Parliaments as Partners Supporting Women, Peace and Security (UNDP)
- Jamiliya Kaparova, Head-Ensan Diamond, Kyrgyzstan

With an expert introduction by Andre Mundal, Special Envoy for Women Peace and Security, Norwegian Ministry of Foreign Affairs

Interpretation in English, Russian, Spanish and French

Click here to register